

Size up your finger (UK and Australian sizing)

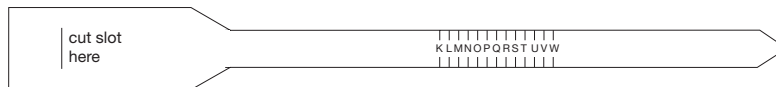

First, make sure your print out is right

If your ruler and the print don't match exactly, check your printer settings and make sure you print this page at 100% with no scaling or "fitting".

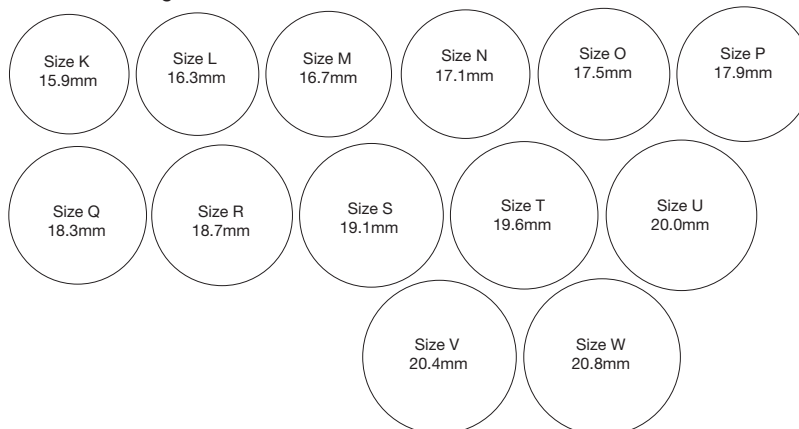

Method 1: Measure your finger

- Carefully cut out the template below
- Wrap it around your finger and put the pointed end through the slot (numbers facing outward)
- Pull snugly around the largest part of your finger (this could be your knuckle)
- The number that lines up with the slot is your ring size

Method 2: Measure against another ring

- Grab a ring that fits the finger you want to measure
- Place the ring over the circles below. The inner edge of the ring should align with the outer edge of the circle.
- The one that matches the closest is your ring size. If you are between sizes, order the larger size.

Method 3: Still not sure

Dont have a printer? Want to be absolutely sure?

Tips and tricks

Measure your finger at room temperature, be aware temperature, humidity, and exercise can affect sizing.

Measure your finger at it's widest point (often the nuckle), and get one size smaller to ensure your ring stays on.

For wide bands (7mm or more), get one size up, it will be more comfortable.

International sizing

Just to make things complicated, there are several ring sizing systems used around the world. This document is for UK and Australian ring sizing. We also provide info and a conversion chart for other sizing systems, please see our customer service area at oyemodern.com for details.
